Why was Warranty Ireland created?

Warranty Ireland was created out of a simple frustration experienced repeatedly in the motor industry.

Too often, warranties were treated as a tick-box exercise.

Dealers paid fixed premiums, customers assumed they were protected, and when a warranty plan expired without a claim, the value simply disappeared. A self-funded warranty gives dealers more ownership of their warranty offering, without compromising the customer experience.

The idea was not to avoid claims or limit cover, but to structure warranties in a way that reflects real risk, real preparation standards, and real outcomes. From the customer's point of view, they receive clear warranty cover, defined limits, and access to a professional claims process.

“ Warranty Ireland is not about cutting corners or shifting risk unfairly. It is about accountability, transparency, and aligning incentives properly. When dealers and customers are treated fairly, the outcomes tend to take care of themselves. ”

01

ACCOUNTABILITY

Dealers take ownership of their warranty offering. This means standing behind the product sold and ensuring customers receive genuine protection.

02

TRANSPARENCY

Clear cover, defined limits, no hidden fine print. Every customer deserves to know exactly what they are covered for from day one.

03

ALIGNMENT

Incentives structured fairly for all parties. When everyone benefits from quality and honesty, the system works as it should.
